

Disease laden mold is ever increasing in American homes today. As a result, serious health conditions become an issue of major concern. Arlis obtains specimens and laboratory testing of all types of mold. Mold is tested for family health security and safety of living in the home. Arlis makes sure that all testing for his clients are provided at “an arms length transaction” i.e. He will not deal with anyone who provides testing and mitigation. As a result, all test results are unbiased or without other motivation. If you have any questions about your mold situation, give him a call. He would love to chat with you.
